Background

The Institute of Medicine (IOM) published a landmark report in 1988, The Future of Public Health, that recognized the daunting role of governmental public health in ensuring basic health and safety. It stated that governmental public health agencies--representing the mainstay of the public health enterprise--were fragmented, underfunded, and lacked cross-cutting capabilities. Recommendations included building key abilities; providing adequate funding for basic services and achieving national goals; and clarifying basic authorities and responsibilities entrusted to public health agencies, boards of health, and health officials.

Persistent challenges such as underfunding, fragmented programs, workforce declines, health disparities and inequities, and emerging health threats continue to strain public health's capacity, resources, and impact. A 2012 IOM report, For the Public's Health: Investing in a Healthier Future, recommended that investments be made in six foundational capacities and capabilities for public health departments: 1) information systems, surveillance, and epidemiology; 2) health planning; 3) partnership development and community mobilization; 4) policy development, analysis, and decision support; 5) communication; and 6) research, evaluation, and quality improvement. These investments were further defined under the Foundational Public Health Services and Public Health Accreditation Board (PHAB) Standards & Measures. Both have been cited as complementary and valuable frameworks for strengthening health departments and our nation's public health infrastructure. These needs have also been outlined in two key initiatives: Healthy People 2020, Healthy People 2030, and Public Health 3.0: A Call to Action to Create a 21st Century Public Health Infrastructure.

The public health system represents a complex and broad range of agencies, organizations, and individuals in which each plays a significant role in affecting the health of the population. Engaging multiple entities facilitates coordination to address public health needs in a systematic manner. Strengthening Public Health Systems and Services through National Partnerships to Improve and Protect the Nations Health, (National Partners Cooperative Agreement) was developed in response to the continued calls for the transformation of the public health system and the need to address ongoing challenges, including emerging health threats, health disparities and inequities, workforce declines, and fragmented programs. FY21 CIO Project Plans being announce in this supplement include activities to address ongoing public health system challenges, including the continued challenges caused by COVID-19 and the system's ongoing response to combat new infections, variant strains, and vaccine education. The supplemental NOFO provides funding for CBA activities with target populations under three headings: Category A: Governmental Public Health Departments; Category B: Workforce Segments across Governmental Public Health Departments; and Category C: Other Governmental and Nongovernmental Public Health Components.

This supplement is only open to organizations awarded under Funding Strategy 1 of CDC-RFA-OT18-1802. These organizations have demonstrated the capability, expertise, resources, national reach, and track record to implement one or more of the OT18-1802 program strategies: public health systems infrastructure; leadership and workforce; data and information systems; communication and information technology; partnerships; laws and policies; and programs and services. The recipients are eligible to submit applications for new CIO Project Plans according to the Target Population Category (A, B, or C) and Target Population Description for which they received initial funding in FY18.

Purpose

The purposes of this supplemental funding opportunity are to strengthen the nation's public health infrastructure, ensure a competent, current, and connected public health system, and improve delivery of essential public health services through capacity-building assistance (CBA).

All information relevant to the SAM number must be current at all times during which the applicant has an application under consideration for funding by CDC. If an award is made, the SAM information must be maintained until a final financial report is submitted or the final payment is received, whichever is later. The SAM registration process usually requires not more than five business days, and registration must be renewed annually. Additional information about registration procedures may be found at https://www.sam.gov/SAM/.

The CIO Project Plans are organized in this supplemental NOFO by Target Population Category (A, B, or C) and new opportunities vs continuation opportunities. These instructions apply to all projects, both new and continuation. Each CDC-RFA-OT18-1802 recipient is eligible to submit Work Plans in Response to CIO Project Plans that align with the Target Population Category and Target Population Description for which the organization competed and was awarded funds under Funding Strategy 1 in FY18. The CIO Project Plans are included as attachments to this supplemental NOFO. Applicants are permitted to submit responses to multiple CIO Project Plans in accordance with the eligibility and responsiveness criteria outlined in this NOFO.

Applicants must submit a Work Plan in Response to CIO Project Plan template for each CIO Project Plan for which they would like consideration. CDC is advising applicants to submit proposals for an 11-month budget period to perform activities within the OT18-1802 Year 4 budget period (September 1, 2021 to July 31, 2022). Additionally, each submission must include a description of the recipient's organizational capacity and program experience as it relates to the work outlined in the corresponding CIO Project Plan. Upon completion of each Work Plan in Response to CIO Project Plan, create and save a master merge of all individual files to one PDF document. The master document must be uploaded and submitted as the "Project Narrative" on Grants.gov.

Review and Selection Process

Review

Eligible applications will be jointly reviewed for responsiveness by Office for State, Tribal, Local and Territorial Support and Office of Grants Services (OGS). Incomplete applications and applications that are non-responsive will not advance through the review process. Recipients will be notified in writing of the results.
An objective review panel will evaluate complete and responsive applications according to the criteria listed in Section V. Application Review Information, subsection entitled "Criteria".

The applications will be compiled and reviewed according to the Target Population Category (A, B, or C) and Target Population Description listed in the corresponding CIO Project Plan. The applicants are eligible to apply for CIO Project Plans that match the Target Population Category (A, B, or C) and Target Population Description for which they competed and were awarded funding under Funding Strategy 1 of CDC-RFA-OT18-1802. Applications will undergo an objective review if 2 or more organizations submit proposals in response to a CIO Project Plan.

If an objective review process is required, applications will be reviewed by a panel of 3 subject matter experts. In the event a technical review is more efficient (i.e., there is only one proposal submitted for a CIO Project Plan), the technical review will be held in place of an objective review. When a technical review is used, work plans will not be scored but will indicate if the project will be funded. The proposals will receive feedback and guidance regarding required revisions in place of scoring.

Selection

In addition, the following factors may affect the funding decision:

Preference will be given to the following factors and may justify CDC funding outside of rank order:

- Avoid duplication of CBA services to the same target populations
- Ensure CBA services are provided to target populations not served by higher ranking applications
- Ensure CBA services are provided to target populations not duplicated in other CDC funding mechanisms

CDC will provide justification for any decision to fund out of rank order.

Anticipated Announcement and Award Dates
